Calling Smith.
Miss Kate Field relates an experience which she had in trying to sleep in a hotel in a Utah mining town where the partitions between the rooms were of boards merely and quite innocent of lath and plaster. The ordinary going and coming of the early part of the night were loud enough, but toward morning, when at last she had fallen asleep, a loud voice shouted from her keyhole: "Smith! Smith!" As her name was not Smith, she made no response. "Smith!" came the shout again. "It's time to sleep!" "My name is not Smith," she then answered. From across the hall came the call of the day clerk, who occupied the room there. "No. That ain't Smith, Smith's at the end of the hall."

"Well, this is the end of the hall," came from the neighborhood of the keyhole again. It was the voice of the porter. "Aren't there two ends to the hall? It's the other end, you block-head!" "Who wants Smith?" came a sharp voice from the distance. "I'm Smith."

"Well, the matter? I'm Smith," came still another voice. "Well, whichever Smith wants to get up at 4 o'clock, him's the one," growled the porter.

Both these Smiths slammed their doors with a vehement protestation that they didn't want to get up.

"It's Smith in No. 1!" screamed the day clerk.

The right Smith had not been waked at all, so the porter found No. 1 and pounded on the door so hard that every-body in the house who had not already been waked was aroused, and several people rushed into the hall, thinking there was a fire.

The porter went down complacently to the office on the floor below.

"Well," said he to the night clerk, "I waked him up anyhow."

An exchange says: "A perfect town is one where farmers patronize the home merchant, the merchant advertises in the local papers, and has his job printing done in his home town, the laborers spend the money they earn with their own tradesmen, and all are animated by a determination not to purchase articles abroad if they can get them at home. The spirit of reciprocity between business men and laborers, farmers and manufacturers, results every one it making the town a satisfactory one to do business in."

Liquor is stronger in an election than any party.

The tax collector will start on his official round in a few days.

Our farmers have had beautiful weather for foddering.

Our miners continue to dig out the precious metal.

Both the weather and politics are some cooler now.

Now that the election is over all that indulged in lying should go to church and make an effort to be forgiven.

"All run down" from weakening effects of warm weather, you need a good tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

Dahlonega is well supplied with beef now. We have two markets besides a large amount that is sold by farmers from their wagons.

We notice that some of our exchanges are reporting good times now. This prosperous wave hasn't struck Dahlonega yet.

Don't forget to cast your eye on the advertisements of our many patrons. They will all sell you goods cheap and treat you right.

Melons are getting scarce. The farmers have realized a good deal from the sale of this delicious fruit in Dahlonega this season.

Two colored women got so full of the "overjoying" of the other night that they "shooked horns." A settlement with the mayor for their misbehavior was required.

There were many political instructors in Dahlonega Wednesday—about three to every country voter, and such a pulling was never seen before.

Send in your announcements and let the people know you are a candidate. If you cannot afford to spend a few dollars for printers ink you are not wanting office bad.

Young Mr. Jarrard, of White county, who is attending college at this place, anticipates buying a lot and erecting a residence on it in the near future.

County School Commissioner McGee has forwarded his report to the State School Commissioner and he hopes to be able to pay off the teachers of the county in a very few days.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; none cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The compositor made Mr. Smith's card last week read a little funny by putting Geo's name to the article when it should have been John.

Porter Springs presents a lonely appearance now. All the visitors had returned home Saturday except two and we guess they are gone by this time.

Mr. John B. Stringer's announcement for sheriff appears elsewhere. Mr. Stringer requests us to say that if the people's party nominate county officers his name will be subject to the convention.

Marshal Helton brought in Jeff Shoubert last Saturday from White county, who was charged with illicit distilling. A distillery was found near his house and still soap was discovered on his pants. A lot of mail was also found in his house.

Marshal Harrison carried three revenue prisoners to Atlanta Sunday. One of them was Geo. Parker of Hall county, who made leg bail while under arrest some time ago. He got tired "roosting" out from home and came in and gave up last week.

We notice that a hole has been in the side walk in front of B. F. Anderson's for more than a week. Such things as this should be looked after promptly to prevent any one from getting hurt. Mr. Dempsey of Rome, was awarded $2,000 the other day against that city, caused by a hole in the side walk which he fell into and received injuries.

Two fellows made a rise Wednesday. One was paid a nickel for his vote and the other was given five cents worth of tobacco.

Miss Sarah, daughter of Mr. John Smith of Nimbleshill district, was married to Mr. Samuel Bruce a few days ago.

Mrs. Samuel Smith has been dangerously ill for the past few days and not expected to live, but we are glad to state that she is some better at this writing.

Some of the darkeys had a stew, dance and a row Tuesday night out on "Pea Ridge." Some one threw a rock through Jack Strickland's window while passing and woke up the natives in that community.

The three prisoners carried to Atlanta Sunday, were disposed of as follows: Justice was acquitted, Parker was sentenced to 6 months imprisonment and a $100 fine, and McChargot off with one month imprisonment.

We are informed that a democrat who hid his jug in an apple tree near Shoal Creek law ground Wednesday was somewhat disappointed to find it gone when he went back to treat some of the boys. The populist found it and drank it up.

Dr. Winburn of Gainesville, is in the city stopping at the Burnside House ready to do all kinds of dental work. The Doctor has done a great deal of work in this section all of which is perfectly satisfactory. He will only remain a few days. Give him a call if you need any work done in his line.

Boyd carried Dawson by one majority, and Higgins carried White by 64.

Mr. M. C. Chester went down to the Gainesville Iron Works this week to have the Murray stamp mill, of which he is operating, supplied with new shoes. These Iron Works located in our sister city are a great convenience for the miners of this section. They are owned by accommodating gentlemen, who never fail to give satisfaction.

Mr. Goodman Mincey of High-tower district, says he has in his field a corn of corn two feet and nine inches in length. We hear it said that Mr. Mincey is a responsible person, and if this corn tale be true then we can account for it in this way, that Mincey was a "late voter" in the last election, and that the seed of this notable ear are the seeds of Carter Tate.

Mr. A. F. Whieldel and his family returned to Atlanta last Monday. It certainly must be gratifying to the family for the unanimous testimonials that was exhibited on the day of the funeral of Miss Sallie, in honor and sympathy for one whom all the people of Dahlonega held in such high esteem. Miss Sallie's life should be emulated by all of the young people.

If the test was made to separate the "sheep from the goats" in a temperance and religious point of view, who would be able to stand? God grant that the time may come when it will be a crime, the penalty of which would be criminal punishment, when a drunken man can be seen on election days. This is the only solution for the disgraceful custom of using liquor on election days.

A gentleman was heard to remark the other day that it was a little singular that Mr. Bart published his hard in a third party paper alone, and him being a democrat. Mr. Bart made arrangements to have his card appear in both the county papers. We were to put it in type and furnish the Nugget with a copy, which we did. Mr. McNeely tells us the reason it did not appear in his paper was because his compositor was sick. We notice, however, that there were as many columns of reading matter in last week's Nugget as in the previous two, two of which were devoted to ridiculing and abusing the people's party.

Nothing strange. Intelligent people, who realize the importance of the blood, holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Resolutions Passed by the Deacons Society.

WHEREAS, We, the members of the Deacons Society, feeling that in the death of Miss Sallie Whieldel the Society has lost one of her most esteemed, and truly devoted honorary members, and not only have we lost a friend, but the church and community one of their most brilliant lights. How feeble are words to convey consolation to hearts bereaved of a beloved daughter. A tender clinging tie interwoven in sweet memories from the hour the angels first gave her to your home, a gentle spirit of light that flitted in and out like a gleam of sunshine. Such were the traits of Miss Sallie, with a character as spotless as the drifted snow, and a life as brilliant as the morning dew drop.

Let us not mourn for her now, but try by imitating her good example to meet her in that home where there is no parting nor sorrow. Therefore be it Resolved, 1. That in the death of Miss Sallie Whieldel our Society has lost one of her best and most highly appreciated members, the church a devoted follower, and the town a useful and lovely lady.

2. That we do most sincerely lament her loss, and sympathize with her friends and relatives in their bereavement.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be handed to her relatives and the papers for publication.

Loaves Power.

Life may change, but it may fly out. Hope may vanish, but it may burn. Truth be veiled, but still it burns. Love repulsed—but it remains. Yet were life a chime where Hope lay coffin with despair. Yet were truth a secret life. Love were lost—if liberty. Lost not its life and of light. Hope its life of death. Truth its prophet's robe to wear. Love its power to live and bear.

To Treat Typhoid.

Washington, Sept. 26. One of the latest advances the specialists have made is in the treatment of typhoid fever. The first case in Washington that was treated by the new methods was at the Columbian hospital, some weeks ago. The idea of the treatment is rational, that is to lower the temperature of the patient and give a change for sleep and rest to build up the constitution that the fever is wearing down. The patient, instead of being allowed to lie for 21 days burning to death at a temperature of 100 plus, is taken at the first stage of the fever and given cold baths, not plunged into ice-cold water, but put in a bath about blood heat and ice water gradually added, till the temperature of the patient, which is taken constantly with the thermometer, goes down to normal. Then the patient is removed from the bath, thoroughly dried and wrapped in blankets and given a little stimulant to induce a healthy reaction. Then the sick one falls off into a quiet, natural sleep, which will last from a half an hour to three hours, and at the end of that time, when the temperature rises to fever heat again, it is reduced by another bath. This is kept up till the fever is finally broken. The case treated at the Columbia was successful. Out of 81 cases treated by this method at Johns Hopkins hospital, in Baltimore, but three cases were lost, a much better record than the old style treatment can show.—Tallapoosa Journal.

A Noted Grave in Georgia.

"ROBERTA ROLAND" Washington, D. C., writes from the office of the Southern Railway Company: Near Allatoona, Ga., in what is known as Allatoona Park is a large grave of an unknown soldier, which is of considerable interest to people along the Western and Atlantic railroad through that region of battlefields, and which is protected and cared for as sacred by the train men whenever their duty brings them to that vicinity. As you approach the northwestern end of the Park immediately on the west side of the track may be seen this soldier's grave. At the head of the mound is a marble slab inscribed thus:

AN UNKNOWN HERO.
HE DIED FOR THE CAUSE
HE THOUGHT WAS RIGHT.
Here rests the precious son of one of the many mothers whose darling went forth never to return, but whose son he was, and who watched for his return, only to be doomed to disappointment, is a question that will probably remain untold throughout eternity.

THE AWFUL FOREST FIRES.

Nothing is so appalling as the fire disaster in the northwest has ever occurred in the history of this republic. By the Johnston flood in 1889 perhaps more lives were lost, but they went on so quickly and almost painlessly by drowning. The very thought of roasting, blistering human flesh in such a horror that no wonder it has been fixed on as the type of everlasting punishment for unforgivable sin. In the upper peninsula of Michigan there were 50 miles of flames at once, extinguished finally by welcome rain. In Minnesota a region embracing 40 square miles was fire swept. Altogether more than a thousand square miles of territory have been burned over. Unlike the Michigan peninsula, the Minnesota district contained scores of villages and thickly settled neighborhoods. The final death list will probably foot up not less than 1,000. There are stories of minuscule escapes and instances of individual heroism that have never been surpassed. Engineer Jim Root, piloted his trainload of refugees out of burning Hinckley through walls of flame to a place of safety and then was killed, scorched and fainting, from his cab, and Telegraph Operator Bullis, at Sandstone Junction who, while his office was burning, wired the word that saved 500 people who as brave as the six hundred who charged at Balaklava.

Col. H. L. McGee, a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, fell dead while sitting in a chair where his sister, Mrs. John Wynn, was sick, in Columbus on the 5th inst. Mrs. Wynn died the next morning.

The democrats excuse their failure to accomplish any reforms, on the ground that there are traitors in their camp. Who is responsible for the traitors in their camp and what claim has a party on the country that admits that it is controlled by traitors?

HOON, J. N. TWITTY.

A Sketch of His Life Clipped From The Atlanta Sunday Constitution of July 19th 1891.

Hoon J. N. Twitty was born in Jackson county, Georgia, October 27, 1852. He was raised on a farm in a pine log house, his father being a poor man with a large family of children and owing to the affliction in his family and the present representative being the oldest son, it required all of his time to help make a support for the family, consequently he was not able to attend school six months in his life until after he was twenty-one years old. But by the use of the famous Georgia pine knot he had learned to read and write, and had been through long division. That was the extent of his education when he attained the estate of manhood. At twenty-one his stock in trade consisted of a good mule, $4.15 and good land and a will to work. He had all the capital he had. He had always been determined to educate himself as soon as he could procure the money to defray expenses. By hard work and close attention to business he cleared about two hundred dollars the first year, and after selling all of his effects increased that capital to $300. He then entered school at Gainesville, Ga. He was attended six months, but owing to missing a roll call, he had to leave school and the confinement brought on typhoid fever. He was confined to his room about four months, and when he recovered and paid the doctor bill and other expenses, had only $72 left. Owing to his limited means young Twitty did not have time to look for an easy job, but decided to see what virtue there was in a sledgehammer. After weighing the sledgehammer for eighteen months and working in a wood shop at odd intervals, he put in a bid for the contract to carry the mail from Gainesville to Jefferson. It was accepted, and on July 1, 1876, he made his first trip to Jefferson as mail contractor and carrier. This proved a lucrative business besides enabling the young man to enter Martin Institute as a student that institution, half of each day, and would carry his book with him on the road and get an advanced education. He took a good stand in his class. At the expiration of three years he submitted the mail contract to good advantage and entered the University of Georgia. He remained at the University two years, after which he left college and returned to Gainesville.

After paying his expenses while at school he had money enough to buy a small farm. He married the only daughter of Mrs. S. C. Patters, a young lady of culture and some property, and has been farming ever since. On his farm he keeps thirteen plows, and will make this year about one hundred bales of cotton and plenty of corn. Two years ago he was elected to the Legislature by over two to one, and in his last race he received about three to one, and his name was prominently mentioned by the press and the people as a suitable man to represent that district in Congress.

Managers, "What committee was this bill referred to?" Mr. Speaker, when I referred this bill to the committee on agriculture, I thought that committee and sufficient intelligence to consider the merits of the bill. I thought the gray hairs of some of the members of that committee that they had lived long enough to know what was right, between men and money, notwithstanding there seems to be a disposition on the part of some to think that the wisdom of the State is bottled up in the legal profession.

The gentleman from Muscogee stated that he meant no reflection upon the committee, but asked for information.

"Well," said Mr. Twitty, "if that was your object, the expression of your face and the tone of your voice was misunderstood by several members of that committee."

"Mr. Speaker, a few weeks ago, when a similar bill to this was before the house for consideration, introduced by the gentleman from Banks, the cry was by some of the lawyers of the house, 'Amend your bill so we can vote for it, but the bill was defeated. After consultation with some of the best lawyers in the house I thought I had drawn one that was a fair compromise on the subject; but the gentleman from Hancock seemed to differ with me, and he went to work to prepare an amendment that he thought would meet with the approval of the bar and the people, what was that amendment when it was sent to the clerk's desk yesterday? Sir, he said by that amendment, before he would be willing to exempt a man from attorney fees he must establish the fact by sworn statement before the court that he had not sufficient intelligence to make a contract. I said Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman was broad enough and liberal enough to see the character, among the great multitude of laboring men in this State that he was willing to exempt from attorney fees, but that character of creeping things that would cling to their victim until it thundered; I have heard of the leeches and sucking blood from the veins of the laboring man, but never in my life, until yesterday, did I hear of an attorney who would cling to a man with a death grip and turn a deaf ear to the pleadings of poverty, that there had been to serve rendered, and hold on until somebody yelled out, 'Idiot, idiot.' Mr. Speaker, I know that it is the disposition of some when a man raises his voice in the interest of the poor, to accuse him of demagoguery; but sir, having been a laboring man myself, I know something of the trials and privations of the laboring poor. I saw by his side from January until December, and I had rather my course in public life would meet with the approbation of the laboring poor, the mechanics and log cabin men of my country than to have all the praises of the press of the land and I hope Mr. Speaker, the members will reconsider their action of yesterday and give us a chance to vote on the bill with a free conscience."

That motion to reconsider prevailed.

When the bill was brought before the house the second time, Mr. Twitty succeeded in getting it passed by 73 majority. When it reached the senate the fight commenced in earnest. After a great deal of discussion the bill passed the senate by one majority.

The next day a motion was made to reconsider, and the senate voted. The President cast his vote in favor of reconsideration, and the motion prevailed. The bill was then reconsidered, and it was announced in the Atlanta Constitution that the Twitty bill would be discussed with open doors the following day before the Senate committee, and that a delegation of lawyers and bankers from Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Rome and Atlanta would appear in opposition to the bill, and Mr. Twitty alone would appear in its defense. We imagine that the delegation of lawyers and bankers from five of the largest cities in the State, and discuss the merits of the bill, but like Paul before Agrippa, he knew that he was right.

Judge Williams has been engaged sending out election blanks this week. He is a strong democrat but has no fears in him failing to discharge this duty.

Mr. S. M. Grizzle has something to say elsewhere. He desires to be made tax collector of the county, promises to discharge the duties of the office to the best of his ability if elected.

A couple of fellows got in a dispute about the possession of a dog in Hightower district the other day and while one was gone to procure a warrant, another person came along and stole the dog.

Peter Peck, who had been violating the Internal Revenue law by concealing a keg of blockade liquor in his last lot week, was captured by Marshal Harrison and bound over by Com. Baker Saturday.

Mrs. Strickland, who visited Atlanta last week, has returned with one of the prettiest, cheapest and best line of fall and winter millinery goods ever seen in Atlanta. Call on her and be convinced.

It will be seen from a notice elsewhere that the town council has ordered the tax book to be revised by the 15th of November. Due notice is now given and if you fail to come to time it's your own fault.

Ben Hill and Frankling caught 23 possums in four nights near Auraria recently and left two more track and if it had been seen much of a good time for catching them they would have captured more.

Wednesday Mr. Tate, while making his address, fell and some of having a full house. Caught by the fall and he went out and drummed up a sufficient number of people to complete the audience and all was calm and serene.

John Fields was up before Commissioner Baker Tuesday charged with running from a blockade distillery recently. The fleeing man "burnt the wind" so fast that the officers couldn't recognize him and he was discharged.

Some of Mr. M. Moore's friends are urging him to make the race for sheriff. Pimp has much experience in court business, was one of the defenders at Fort Sumter and would doubtless make it interesting for his opponents.

It is hoped that the time will come when Lumpkin county will be sufficiently supplied with funds for her treasurer to be able to settle off all county orders without the holder being compelled to make a discount of ten cents on the dollar to parties who will receive the cash in less than three months afterwards.

Mr. Keith of Forsyth county, who controls valuable property in Lumpkin was here Tuesday on business. He was very much elated over the populists of his county electing Mr. J. H. Henderson, former alliance lecturer of the 3rd district, to the legislature. Mr. Keith said they were going to make a record by sending the first man to the legislature not owning a foot of land.

Mr. J. M. Moore, of Cherokee county, was up on a visit to his old home in Lumpkin last week.

We are told that a recent wedding in this county has caused a certain fellow to wear a sad appearance.

Mrs. Gordon, wife of Prof. Gordon, who has charge of the business department of the college, arrived in Dahlonega a few days ago.

Virgo Moore says he has dug all his gold and is going to move to Auraria for the purpose of studying law and gardening.

Missed life was in Dahlonega last week again. He still has one of his large rattlesnakes. He has had it for more than three months and it has never eaten a bite.

Will Tate was in town this week and says he expects to be out in time for the office of ordinary in due season for the election in '96. His announcement will appear soon.

Representative Price and Senator Boyd take their departure next week to be on hand at the convening of the legislature in Atlanta Wednesday to look after the interests of their constituents.

Many of the candidates should have seen the agent that was here this week and insured their lives. Some of them will be defeated so badly that they will feel like "giving up the ghost" after the first Wednesday in January.

Mr. J. P. Stegall, and by the way the only John Stegall ever visiting this section, and his good wife, of Emerson, Ga., visited Dahlonega first of the week. Mr. Stegall had some business in court with regard to his valuable gold property near Auraria. John never wears a "keep off the grass" badge while in Dahlonega.

For some time it has been reported that Tom Johnson, who is a married man, had been paying his respects to Mrs. Doola Beck, residing near town. The grand jury investigated the matter this week and returned true bills against both. They were arrested on Tuesday and brought to town. Tom was lodged in jail and the woman was let go home until the case was sounded.

Mr. J. B. Thomas, editor of the Dawsonville Advertiser, his wife and little daughter, Ruth, spent Sunday night with the editor and family. Monday forenoon John was shaking hands left and left with his friends of boyhood days who seemed glad to see him. As it is Dawson time according to former rule and rotation system, to furnish the senator, the people of our neighboring county could please the people of Lumpkin county by running him for the state senate. The district will likely be represented by a populist next time but we feel confident that John will see the error of his way and come over where there is life and light before two years hence.

The County School Commissioner requests us to state that teachers are required to make reports from the time taught up to the 30th day of Sept. 1894.

We are glad to state that Mr. Chas. Bell, a student from Florida, who has been quite sick, is better as we go to press. His father arrived yesterday.

Dr. Smith, of New Bridge, was up to Dahlonega last Saturday. The doctor is a nice, clever fellow and he's a democrat but not one of those foolish ones.

The tax collector will be here to-morrow for the purpose of collecting taxes. You needn't give yourself any trouble, however, if you can't get up the money he can.

Elsewhere you will find a notice of a bill that will be introduced in the next legislature. If you oppose it get up a petition against its passage or forever hereafter hold your peace.

Capt. Asbury, of White county, was out on a visit this week. The Captain is always smiling and you can never tell when he has sold a gold mine by his appearance for he always seems happy.

Col. J. J. Kinney was around shaking hands with his many friends in Dahlonega this week. The Colonel is a candidate for our next Judge and we see no reason why he should not be elected.

Mr. T. S. Littlefield, of Porter Springs, was married to Miss Ella, daughter of Mr. W. H. C. Tate, on last Sunday by Squire W. L. McDonald. May their lives be nothing but pleasure and happiness.

John Teal was arrested at the colored camp ground Sunday for being intoxicated and having a loaded bottle and an empty pistol. The grand jury almost covered him up with true bills and John will not likely attend another camp meeting of this kind of a style.

Oh what good times we are now having under the new tariff law. The price of fire crackers and hats have been reduced and if a farmer wants to get his boy a dollar hat and a pack of crackers it is fixed so he has to give 21 lbs. of cotton for the two. What about prosperity (?) staring us in the face now on all sides?

STATE OF O., CITY OF TOLEDO, SS. LEUCIA COUNTY. FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo County and State of Ohio, and that said firm pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATHARTIC CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1894. A. W. CLARSON. Notary Public. Hall's Cathartic Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free on application. Dr. J. C. Sarsaparilla, O. Sarsaparilla Sold by Druggists, 75c. Oct. 12, 1894.

Charley Anderson and Tom Ray had a difficulty at the colored camp ground Sunday evening in which both received bruised heads.

Capt. Hall has had hands employed for two or three weeks repairing and rubbing up all his machinery and storing it away under shelters, ready for sale.

We do not take up space for a "roll of honor," but when a person subscribes for the SIGNAL we enter his name on the book and put the money in our pocket.

Mr. W. H. Courtney, of Cleveland, came down on a visit Sunday. Mr. Courtney is a "rod hot" Twitty man and thinks the prospect of tendering Mr. Twitty a seat in Congress is good. Mr. Courtney handed us a silver dollar and had his name enrolled on the SIGNAL's subscription list before he took his departure.

The colored camp meeting was largely attended by both black and white Sunday. A good deal of drinking was indulged in. If one of Gov. Tilmon's dispensaries had been established close by it would not have been much worse. Billy Riley, one of the deacons, got up Sunday afternoon and stated that he had found a jug and a cup near the camp ground and that the owner could get them by calling on him but no one appeared and Billy still has the outfit.

A certain democrat near Auraria borrowed a gun from a third party to kill some game recently. The gentleman was a splendid marksman and the gun had a record of being one of the best. He shot and shot but could kill nothing and returned the gun stating the fact. The owner began an investigation and found that he had been using a democratic paper for vadding. The shot bag was rid of the remainder of the paper and a different one procured. The gun was loaded and tried at a small cross several times. The first shot drove the center and each one afterwards "got closer."

Death of Little Nannie Rice.

Little Nannie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Rice, departed this life on the evening of Oct. 11th, 1894 at 10:30 o'clock, after an illness of a short time. Her sudden death was very unexpected as she was not believed to be dangerously ill and appeared to be getting considerably better up to a short time before her death.

The little girl was unusually intelligent for a child of her age. On the afternoon before her death, while being rocked in the crib by the mother she looked up and said, "sing farewell Nannie, mama." The ever watchful parent complied with her loved one's request. Little did she think then that the angel of death was so near, and would before the dawn of another morning appear and cause the happy household to be turned into sorrow by removing the bright eyed little daughter, which had been the pride of the home for two years and sixteen days, from her midst, but we must remember that the Great Ruler "doeth all things well," and that death is certain and comes when we least expect it.

"I take these little nans," said He, "And lay them in my breast; Protection they shall find in me, In me ever blest."

Weep not for little Nannie. It's true that you are separated from her here on earth forever, and that her lifeless form lies resting beneath the sod in the lonely grave yard, and that she has fallen asleep to sleep the sleep that knows no waking, but her spirit has taken its flight and reached that city "not made with hands," awaiting the arrival of papa, mama, brothers and sisters. She will be the first to meet you; let this cheer your lonely hours that she is not lost.

"Weep not for her, oh! who was so fair, Too pure to dwell on this earth-tainted earth. The stolen glory and the golden air, 'Tis Jesus to claim her from her bier, A spirit wandering from its native zone. Walk now discerning took her for his own. Weep not for her!"

Weep not for her! Her memory is the shrine of glowing thoughts and a stream of flowers, Calm as the blue sea, the sun's smile, Fair as the stars of the night, Bright as the rainbow with its hues of light, Pure as the snowflake of an autumn night.

THAT TIRE FEELING Is a dangerous condition directly due to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as when the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for such a condition, as when that valuable blood purifier, which prevails at the change of season, cures or life.

CONDITIONS OF GEORGIA CROPS.

The Georgia Dairyman's Convention Will Do Much Good—Valuable Points Discussed in Convention—The Sowing of Wheat—Sweet Potatoes—Select Seed Corn.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, ATLANTA, Oct. 1, 1894.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Belt Worm Is Damaging the Cotton Crop to a Very Great Extent.

The last month has brought but little change in the crop conditions throughout the state. Conditions as a whole, the weather has been rather unfavorable than favorable, and both corn and cotton have suffered to some extent.

corn.

The prospects of cotton at the interior towns verify the reports of the crop in that in many localities the crop is from 10 to 15 days late. The cotton in the North Georgia hills have added to the development of seed at the expense of the maturing of the crop, rendering it liable to greater damage from early frost.

In special localities great damage is reported from boll worms, indeed we are not aware of any section or year in which the crop has been injured to such an extent by this pest. The ravages of the worm is reported as amounting to a disaster in Jasper county, and the injury in other towns as unparallelled in Oconee and Oglethorpe counties.

It is with regard to this that the falling price of our staple crop, and it is now estimated a price far below remunerative figures.

It is not possible to say the price is so low. The commission in a recent monthly talk called special attention to the effect that proper handling of the crop would have on the price. We would emphasize this and urge our farmers to exercise care in gathering and handling the crop. In the crop the farmer should consider it desirable to hold his crop, or any part of it, let him see to it that it is properly protected from the weather, and that no deterioration in grade takes place by neglectful exposure on his part. As we know we should learn from the present rates of prices are scarcely tangible, but let us us, as far as possible, profit by it. We would advise spreading manure on land in fall and winter, and under the stable, or covering the heap and spreading in the spring.

Like a great many questions of agriculture, this question shows the necessity of close study on the part of the farmer. The method best adapted to some soils and other purposes. It is an admitted fact that barnyard manure is an open lot well, in a large measure, has a wealth of valuable salts, leaving little of value except the straw and undecomposed organic matter. This loss takes place principally by leaching, through a portion of the solid matter is evaporated by the wind and sun. It is evident, therefore, that the sooner the manure is placed on the land the better, in many cases, as nothing is lost by leaching, and at the same time the better lot to the soil. Here it is, however, that the farmer can exercise his judgment as to the relative powers and character of his soil. It being much better to apply early on the relative soils have mentioned, as they will hold the matter of value much better than the compost heap. These soils are clay soils which are so tenacious of ammonia and other salts, that fresh manure spread on these would lose little except carbonic acid gas and water. On the other hand, early applications would not be proper on silicious soils, as the very soluble salts would be leached by the rains through the soils to a depth to which the roots of the crop would not reach. In such cases a carefully managed compost heap, with a late application, would afford more plant food than when applied in the manner pointed out.

We take this occasion to call attention to the necessity of saving stable manure and studying its proper application if we desire to succeed. In England the land is continually enriched by feeding animals on oil cake, rich in nitrogenous matter, thus utilizing the fat properties of the cake as an animal food, and at the same time the better lot to the soil. In such cases a carefully managed compost heap, with a late application, would afford more plant food than when applied in the manner pointed out.

We note no substantial change in the corn crop since our report for August. With the failure of the crops in the west we are to be congratulated on the prospective yield in Georgia.

POTATOES.

Why is it that in the usual commercial fertilizer no potash is put in it, but that phosphoric acid?

W. A. T. Columbus.

As a rule, the lands of America contain much more potash than is available for plant food than they do of phosphoric acid. They also in many cases contain gravel, which by gradual disintegration, is constantly contributing to the potash supply of the soil. As to the amount of the two elements distributed, it will depend entirely upon the character of the crop. Another reason presents itself in that the portion of the plant into which the phosphoric acid enters is usually consumed and only returned to the soil, while that into which potash enters is the hands of the careful farmer finds its way back to the field. For example, phosphoric acid is the chief portion of the wheat grain which is entirely removed from the soil while the potash enters principally into the straw, which is in part left on land or fed to stock and returned to the farm manure. In animal consumption of grain, in which both elements enter, more of the phosphoric acid is taken up by the body than the potash. Hence it is easily seen that where a proper system of agriculture prevails that more of the potash is returned to the soil in the form of manure.

In the great contest which is to be fought between now and the next Presidential election for

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY—the coinage of both gold and silver, without discrimination, which means the free coinage of both as opposed to the policy of contraction, which is being dictated by England, and which leaves tribute on every product of the farm, on valuations of all kinds and on all compensation for labor.

The Great Issue now is the double standard against the single standard—the use of both gold and silver as standard money means against the organized effort to hold the currency of the country strictly to the gold basis.

is among the few great newspapers publishing daily editions on the side of the people as against European Domination of our money system, and it heartily advocates

The Free Coinage of Silver, Believing that the establishment of a single gold standard will wreck the prosperity of the great masses of the people, though it may profit the few who have already grown rich by federal protection and federal subsidy.

2d. Tariff Reform, Believing that by throwing our ports open to the markets of the world and leaving only enough import duties to pay the actual expenses of the government, the people will be better served than by making them pay double prices for protection's sake.

3d. An Income Tax, Believing that those who have much property should bear the burdens of government in the same proportion to those who have little.

Opportunity.

The rising sun, the golden light,
The birth of day declares;
But ere we think, the solemn night
Steals o'er us unawares.

So that when man is in his prime
And honors o'er him shower,
Along will come old Father Time,
And with him as a flower.

A lesson then for me and you
As on through life we speed,
Now is the only time to do—
Take warning then and heed.

"Another day" may never come,
Nor opportunity.
And this day's work when it is done
May be the last for us.

Do Women Know

That a raw egg swallowed immediately will generally carry a fish bone down that can not be removed from the throat by the almost exertion, and has got out of the reach of the saving finger.

That articles of old furniture are sometimes made to appear new by washing them with lime water and then applying a coat of oil.

That the fashionable's boot and shoe is made in a pocket book, with a straight tip. Because of the movement of the toe all shoes are worn one size larger than usual.

That it is a good thing during the hot humid weather of dog days to keep a box of lime in the kitchen pantry as a purifier.

That cork may be made air and water tight by keeping them for five minutes entirely immersed in melted paraffine.

That rain water and white castile soap in a lukewarm suds is the best mixture in which to wash em-broideries.

That it is said frockies may be removed by putting an ounce each of rum and lemon juice into a pint of rosewater and applying it at night.

That lime water is an important factor in the nursery, and no mother would neglect its use if she realized its effect on the bones and teeth of growing children. When placed in milk it adds a sweeter flavor if no more than a teaspoonful is used to a tumbler of milk. It may also be used for indigestion.

The Seven Bibles of the World.

The question is often asked whether there is any Bible besides the Christian Bible. Besides the Holy Scriptures, the Koran of the Mahometans, the Tu Pitules of the Buddhists, the Five Kings of the Hindus, the Three Vedas of the Persians, the Edhis of the Scandinavians. The Edhis is merely a semi-sacred work, and was born in the fourteenth century. The most recent of the real Bibles is the Koran, which is a collection of sayings from the Christian Scriptures and the Talmud, and dates from the seventh century after Christ. The Vedas are the most ancient of Hindu literature, although the commentators do not ascribe them to an earlier period than the twelfth century before Christ. The Pentateuch was written by Moses 1,500 years before Christ, so that the Christian Bible antedates the oldest of its rivals by three centuries.

The Boys Have Lots of Fun With a Man Who Wants a Wife.

Some time ago an advertisement appeared in one of the local papers signed Edwin Rock, Portersville, Ala., in which he said he wanted a wife, giving a description of himself and the property he owned, and his accomplishments.

A young fellow in the city who was acquainted with "Mr. Rock" answered the "ad." In a few days the young man in question received a loving letter from the Portersville man.

Several letters were passed between them, each containing any amount of "laffy" and demonstrations of love.

"Mr. Rock" related his entire history to the Chattanooga boy and sent him a photograph of himself. He received in return a photograph of a very handsome woman.

A number of other young men were of course put on to the joke. Letter after letter was received from the deluded Alabama, sometimes as many as three a week. In his letter he explained that he wanted to come to Chattanooga to see his future bride "Clara Killon," which cognomen the boys used to deceive the ignorant old "cuss," and that he would arrive here on the 20th instant.

He explained how he would be dressed, stating that he would hold a white handkerchief in his left hand. The letter concluded: "Now, my darling Clara, I know you will know me when you see me."

The boys thought they had carried the joke far enough, and yesterday wrote the man a letter explaining the truth of the matter to him.

The boys enjoyed the joke immensely, and it is now an interesting topic of conversation among them.

He Found a Quiet Place.

The Griffin News is responsible for the following story, which is submitted to the man that does not advertise:

"A man went into a store in a neighboring town and asked if he could rest four or five hours. The proprietor, who had just found a nest of new born mice in the coffee grinder, told him he could, and then asked him why he didn't go to the hotel, the man replied: 'I am suffering from nervous prostration and I want to get a quiet place to rest, and I see you don't advertise. I know that I couldn't find a quieter place.' And with that he settled back in his chair and watched the swallows build a nest in the cheese case."

Miss Mary E. Cutler of Hillston, Mass., has proved that a woman can be a successful farmer. She became the sole manager of an estate of sixty-eight acres after her father's death, ten years ago. She quit teaching and determined to carry on the farm, against the advice of friends who thought it impossible for a woman to make a success of farming. The business has increased under her direction. She gives her attention chiefly to the raising of fruits and vegetables, which are sold from her teams direct to the consumer, the surplus going to the canneries. She has 1,400 bearing peach trees, and has not had a failure of crop for seven years.

DALHOUSIE, OCT. 28, 1894.

There are now 36 populist papers in Georgia.

What is your prosperity? Is it side-tracked somewhere?

Low wages and low prices are the result of old party rule.

The concentration of wealth is the concentration of power.

Stop crying out against hard times or else vote against them.

Both old parties resort to fraud to sustain themselves in power.

Some men don't seem to know how to vote until the boss tells them.

The biggest of all fools is the man that talks reform and votes against it.

One hundred cats were recently shipped from Brunswick to Hamburg.

The bankers have got a corner on money and are squeezing the people for gain.

You can never put down monopoly by voting as the monopolists do.

Did you ever think of that?

The old parties have nothing left but ridicule to offer against the arguments of Populists.

Judge Hines is discouraged by his means. He is still canvassing the state and making speeches.

Hard times for the wealth producers is a harvest for the money lenders. This banker's harvest.

The best thing that the Fifty-third congress did for the people was the passage of the resolution to adjourn.

The demonstration of silver sold this government more in one year than the protective tariff did in ten years.

Why should we rely on the banks to issue money when the government can issue a cheaper and better money?

The Morganton News of the 8th inst. said that "Atkinson will carry every county from the mountains to the seaboard."

That paper is undoubtedly some concoction of Solomon.

Daniel, the leading republican of the 9th congressional district, is for Mr. Tully. This gentleman is well posted and is confident that the populist candidate will make the best representative in Congress.

Two years ago the Populists predicted that if either of the old parties were placed in power prices of farm products would go lower and times be harder. The democrats claimed that if they were given a "chance" there would be a great wave of prosperity over the land. If that is what you call it give us something else.

It turns out that Hine's prophecy in the 10th district is 652.

Northern carried it two years ago by 2,005. The total number of votes polled then was 6,135, and the total polled at the last election was 6,500. The populists have nine papers in the district now. Two years ago they only had two. Does this look like the party is dying?

Before Cleveland took charge of the democratic party, and the democratic party took charge of the country, one bushel of wheat would buy thirteen pounds of sugar. Now the demonization of silver has put wheat down, and the mill will buy put sugar up, so that one bushel of wheat will buy eight pounds of sugar. How do you like that kind of democratic reform? Won't you give 'em another chance?

During the last session Congressman Hitt was absent 172 days. Hopkins 108 days, and one case is on record that during the former session a congressman was only in his seat one day, yet he drew his salary of $5,000. No prevalent had this practice because that the Fifty-third congress, that was going to reform everything in sight, had to pass a law checking members of their per diem; when absent without a good excuse, before it could keep enough members together to constitute a quorum with which to do business.

The Alliance Ploy Boy published at Buford asks Mr. Tate if he didn't remove a weakly woman from the post office at Homer and appoint a man, but Carter refuses to answer. This is sort of like he does about the seeds he sent for distribution in this county. They were deposited with one of his friends in Dalhousie, who published that there were seeds for all. A lady, whose husband was in the West and not likely to return before the election, applied for some of the free seeds, when she was informed that her name was not in it.

An Honest Confession.

The Gazette, a democratic paper published in the city of Atlanta is certainly against rule and the man who controls it. In its last issue it has this to say about the recent state election:

"The demand of the leading papers of the state, in response to popular sentiment, for such arrangements as would negate all suggestions of unfairness in the state election were disregarded and the men who control" stand committed to the prima facie case of fraud which they have established against themselves by their own voluntary conduct. And the result is that it is difficult to find an honest democrat who does not believe that Judge Hines was elected. And the mystery of silence has a tendency to strengthen the belief."

The Legislature.

The Georgia Legislature convened in Atlanta last Wednesday at 12 o'clock composed of the following members of different political parties, to-wit: In the Senate, democrats 36, populists 7, republicans 11. In the House, democrats 131, populists 41, republicans 3.

In order to keep the populist members "out of it" the democrats decided to caucus.

The following are the officers of both houses:

SENATE.

President, Hon. W. H. Venable, of Fulton.

President pro tem, Hon. C. H. Brand, of Gwinnett.

Secretary, Hon. William Clifton, of Macon.

Message, Flynn Hargett, of Harris.

JUDGE C. J. WELBORN.

Resolutions Passed by the Bar.

At a meeting of the bar of Lumpkin county, joined by the visiting bar of the North Eastern Circuit, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

The present term of the Lumpkin Superior Court practically closes the judicial career of Mr. Judge C. J. Welborn. After twenty years of faithful service voluntarily lay down his ermine as spotless as when he donned it.

Without a suggestion of dissent we say that Judge Welborn has been a just Judge. No man can have higher encomium. Recalling the history of his labors upon the bench we must needs see as prominent characteristic his patience, his never failing courtesy, his high ability and his never-bending justice. Georgia can ill afford to lose him from the bench. In her judicial history many great Judges have made their impress. None in a more marked degree have exhibited the great art-principle that the ends of the law are best subserved "when mercy seasons justice."

We feel that we must at times have imposed on him—never ourselves being imposed upon—for his great patience and courtesy have been shown in such unexampled degree that they were almost painful, but merely faults that lend on virtue's side.

If we could advise his successor we could best say to him, "By your kindness and courtesy, endeavor to win the affection and love of the bar, the officers of court and the people in as large a measure as Judge Welborn has done."

Resolved, That we regret the determination reached by Judge Welborn to leave the bench, and express to him our sincere appreciation of his services and assure him that at all times in the future he may count on certain friends of his in this county.

Resolved, further, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Court, and that the clerk be requested to furnish to Judge Welborn a certified copy thereof. Oct. 18, 1894.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Mr. Tate Didn't Explain All.

Mr. Tate, in his recent speech at Dalhousie, gave a full history of his record in congress, told about Mr. Puffer and "spun out" a few snappy yarns, which was fun for the school boys, but he didn't say one word about his actions concerning the Dalhousie post office, and as he neglected it we will relate it for him.

A short time after his election Mrs. Reese, H. D. Gurley, J. A. Howard and M. H. Stanton made application for the post office here. Each one got up petitions, signed by one to two hundred of their friends and sent them to Mr. Tate for his consideration. Mr. Tate took up the claims of the one or more applicants for the Toccoa City office first and settled it in a very satisfactory manner by stating in the paper that if they would hold an election he would endorse the one receiving the highest number of votes cast by patrons of that office. The election as suggested by him was held and he complied with his agreement.

This pleased the people of Dalhousie as well as those of the applicant, thinking they would be served likewise and Mr. Tate was asked through the columns of the Sixty, to let the people at this place hold an election in the same manner and upon the same terms as in Toccoa.

What did Mr. Tate do? He held a portion of a day and one night in Dalhousie pretending to see which applicant was the choice of the people here, and he said that he hoped some of them would withdraw. He visited each applicant and talked good and kind to them, telling them that they seemed like a "brother," or some of their folks were like a "father," etc., making each one feel assured of success, implying almost that they were right when casting the postage stamps.

It apparently seemed to be such a hard matter for him to come to any conclusion, all being so near and dear to him, that Mr. Robert Moaders thought as a compromise he might come in on the "home street" and be made application for postoffice.

Mr. Tate, finding that he could get none of them to withdraw, left for fear that there might be others wanting the place, without saying who the lucky person would be.

In a short time after Mr. Tate left it was ascertained why he would not suggest an election in Dalhousie. There was no prominent characteristic his patience, his never failing courtesy, his high ability and his never-bending justice. Georgia can ill afford to lose him from the bench. In her judicial history many great Judges have made their impress. None in a more marked degree have exhibited the great art-principle that the ends of the law are best subserved "when mercy seasons justice."

Resolved, That we regret the determination reached by Judge Welborn to leave the bench, and express to him our sincere appreciation of his services and assure him that at all times in the future he may count on certain friends of his in this county.

Resolved, further, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Court, and that the clerk be requested to furnish to Judge Welborn a certified copy thereof. Oct. 18, 1894.

Letter From A. W. Woody.

BARNARD, KAN., Oct. 12, 94.

ED. SINGAL—

By inspecting the wrapper that comes around the Sixty, which has been a long and welcome visit to my house, I find that my paid up subscription has expired. It makes the printers press work more smoothly when they can hear from their subscribers once a year, to that end I will enclose a draft for $1.50 for the Sixty and Constitution.

I am a great fan of my old friends while back there last winter. What a pleasure it was for me to see them.

Well, it may not be a miss to give you a little general news from this section. We are doing out here a good deal like back there, growing about hard times, and it's too true to make a joke of it.

We have every farmer here and a Cleveland administration both to contend with.

Politics are very high. Our election Nov. 6th will be an exciting one. Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, has been out to see us. Also Thomas Reid is to visit us soon. We have our seige guns in position and bringing them to bear in good shape, and about the 6th of next month listen and you will hear something drop.

You have one of your elections now over, but you will soon have another, but not so out here. We elect from Governor down to road overseers at one election, and we vote under the Australian system, which I think to be a good way of voting.

As I before stated we have had crop failures—have not had a good rain since the 17th of July, and from the way some of my friends write they are starving out here. We raise more in this county during the worst failure we ever have than we have raised in any other county in one year. I raised 1101 bushels of wheat and sold one car for 35 cents per bushel and am not offered but 35 now. I think I will have somewhere from seven to ten hundred bushels of corn. It is a better price than I have ever known it at this season of the year—65 cents per bushel. I am some lucky.

Mr. Welborn, the leading republican of the 9th congressional district, is for Mr. Tully. This gentleman is well posted and is confident that the populist candidate will make the best representative in Congress.

Grand Jury Presentments.

We, the grand jury selected, chosen and sworn at the October Term of the Superior Court, respectfully submit the following general presentments:

We find the public roads of the county as a general rule in good condition, although a number of places are so that the roads are too narrow and in other places the loose stones should be removed. We do not call particular attention to certain portions of the public roads, needing further repairs, to-wit: On the upper Porter Springs road opposite Col. Baker's farm, on that portion of the road in the Troy Town District from Grubbs' Ford to the district line, also a portion of the public road near Freshman McDonald's mill in Davis' District. Also, we would call attention to that portion of the Nelsford's Ford road commencing at the one mile post from Dalhousie to the Christiana river near Mill Ford. The road from the store formerly occupied by Jarrett & Haven to the district line needs immediate repairs.

We would call particular attention to needed repairs on Haines' bridge and the roof of the Huff bridge near Dalhousie. We respectfully request the honor Judge Welborn, to impress on the road commissioners of the several municipalities the necessity of having a portion of seeing that the public roads be kept in good condition, and not only just before court, but at all times, and further, that road commissioners should have a better and necessary supply of water furnished the public and under the road.

We have examined the court house and jail and find them in reasonably good condition, except the roof of the court house, which we respectfully request the honor Judge Welborn, to impress on the road commissioners of the several municipalities the necessity of having a portion of seeing that the public roads be kept in good condition, and not only just before court, but at all times, and further, that road commissioners should have a better and necessary supply of water furnished the public and under the road.

THE CONSTITUTION

is among the few great newspapers publishing daily editions on the side of the people as against European Domination of our money system, and it heartily advocates:

Who Hesitates Is Lost

How to succeed—share the great question. The most important thing is to know what you want to do, and then to do it. No matter how small the thing, if you do it, you will succeed. If you do not, you will fail. It is the same in every case.
